CMSA 2014 CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT MISSION SAN ANTONIO DE PADUA

3-Day Gathering to Feature Ranchos, Paso Robles serving as Conference Base; Tours of Hearst Castle - located on an original Rancho - Are Set for the Friday of the Conference

Mission San Antonio de Padua has been selected as the site for the 2014 CMSA Conference to be held February 14-16, 2014, the Board of Directors has announced.

The three-day annual gathering of experts and followers in the fields of Mission Studies will have a "Rancho" theme fitting well with CMSA founding objectives:

"Founded in 1984, California Mission Studies Association (CMSA) is a non-profit organization formed to further advance the studies and research of our missions, presidios, ranchos, villas and pueblos."

After secularization, government officials divided mission lands and distributed them to prominent citizens as Ranchos. The land was mapped using diseños (drawings/designs). Thus, the title for our 2014 CMSA Conference: "Ranchos y Vaqueros: Missions and Mission Land After Secularization"

For the first time, the Friday afternoon of the Conference will center

NEW BOARD MEMBERS, OFFICERS JOIN CMSA

As the clock struck midnight on July 1, a handful of new Board members joined CMSA, and several Officers were either reelected or elected to join the leadership of this organization.

Following the results of the CMSA General Membership Meeting in Santa Barbara this past February, the slate of Officers serving terms for the next two years are:

President - David Bolton
Vice-presidents - Theresa Brunner, Bettie Allen
Secretary - Carol Kenyon
Treasurer - Mike Imwalle

New board terms also began July 1 for either previous board members reelected for their second and final three-year terms or new members joining the Board for their first three-year term. In addition, a trio of new Board members was elected during a special full membership election this spring, and another Board member was appointed by the full Board to fill a Board vacancy.

Board members beginning three-year terms July 1, 2013 are:

Carol Kenyon (second term)
Bettie Allen (second term)
Mary Wood (first term)
Maureen Bourbin (first term)
Ty Smith (first term)
Cassidy DeBaker (first term)
Mary Susa (first term)

"These new additions to our Board of Directors give CMSA increased representation throughout the state, and bring a wealth of energy and experience to the leadership team of CMSA," association president David Bolton said.

JUNIPERO SERRA 300 - CMSA HELPS CELEBRATE A MEMORABLE BIRTHDAY

Images of Fr. Junípero Serra, Photos Courtesy of Cultural Global Media

In 2013, Mission followers around the world will join in the celebration of the 300th Anniversary of legendary Fray Junípero Serra's birthday and birth year.

CMSA kicked off the year-long festivities with its annual Conference, February 15-17, 2013 in Santa Barbara - the last place Serra raised the founding cross as he established what he noted was 'the founding of the Presidio and Mission' at Santa Barbara.

Additionally, events commemorating this special 300th anniversary will be held throughout the year from Mallorca, Spain -- Serra's birthplace -- to Querétaro, Mexico and Alta California -- places of Serra's famed missionary work.

Here in Correo, we plan to keep you up-to-date with the latest calendar of events celebrating the 300th birthday and birth year of who many call the Father of Alta California's missions.

Please let us know of Serra related events in your area so that we can keep everyone informed. Email us anytime at JuniperoSerra300@ca-missions.org

As Serra so often said, Siempre Adelante, Nunca Atras ... Always Forward, Never Back

It will be a memorable year in 2013. Please join in the festivities.

The Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens.

SAN MARINO, Calif.- The life of Junípero Serra (1713-1784)-and his impact on Indian life and California culture through his founding of missions-is the subject of a comprehensive, international loan exhibition this fall at The Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens. The show runs from Aug. 17, 2013, to Jan. 6, 2014, in the Virginia Steele Scott Galleries of American Art.

"Junípero Serra and the Legacies of the California Missions" examines Serra's early life and career in Mallorca, Spain; his mission work in Mexico and California; the diversity and complexity of California Indian cultures; and the experiences of the missionaries and Indians who lived in the missions.

The exhibition also delves into the preservation and reconstruction of the missions as physical structures; the persistence of Indian culture from before the mission period to the present; the missions' enduring place in California culture today; and a wide variety of perspectives-some of them irreconcilable-on Serra and the meaning of his life.

"Junípero Serra" coincides with the 300th anniversary of Serra's birth and will include nearly 250 objects from 60 lenders in the United States, Mexico, and Spain.

"It's a rich, complex, and multi-faceted story and one that has not been told before in an exhibition of this magnitude," said CMSA Board Member Steven Hackel, co-curator of the exhibition, professor of history at the University of California, Riverside, and Serra biographer (Junípero Serra: California's Founding Father, 2013). "Serra was 55 years old and had had a very full life by the time he came to California in 1769. In this show we are working to move beyond the standard polemic that often surrounds Serra and the missions. We present a picture that is equally rich in its portrayal of not only Serra's life but the meaning of the missions for a range of California Indians." The general tendency is to think that Serra's life work began with the California missions, Hackel added, and that Indian culture disappeared with the onset of those missions. "The exhibition challenges both of these assumptions." More...

BUEN PROVECHO

Tacos de Pescado / Fish Tacos

By David Bolton

Nothing calls out the modern coast along the Mission Trail - from Mexico to California - like a good fish taco.

A battered white fish, slaw, guacamole, salsa, a slice of lime and a corn tortilla - wow! - buen provecho!

I've found that Tilapia is a good white fish for fish tacos. Wild, it is a bottom fish, and many people in Mexico have traditionally frowned on it as it is known to scower the ocean floor much like wild catfish. Today though farm raised Tilapia is well received and a great main ingredient for fish tacos.

Slice the fish filet into pieces about the length of a regular corn tortilla.

Make your batter: 1 cup flour, 1/3 cup baking powder, a pinch of salt, 1 TBLS dried oregano and water. Mix.

Dredge both sides of the fish in your batter.

Fry in hot oil, about 2 minutes.

Make your slaw: equal parts shredded red cabbage and white or green cabbage, add apple cider vinegar and salt. Lightly mix and let sit.

Make a guacamole: mash avocados, a squeeze of lime juice, salt and pepper

Make a tomatilla salsa: poach 4 tomatillos (green tomatoes with the dried outer skins removed, rinsed and the core removed). Roast 2 gloves garlic and 1 or 2 jalapeno chiles (depending on your desired heat level). Rotate the chile(s) to blacken all sides. Remove from heat, rinse and softly remove the burnt skin. Slice open and using your fingers as an aid, rinse out the seeds, veins and the stem. Place the chiles, roasted garlic and tomatillos in a blender with a pinch of salt and pepper. Mix. (Wash your hands well to remove the chile residue)

Heat the corn tortillas.

Build your tacos:

A heated tortilla, piece of cooked fish, a bit of slaw, some of the guacamole, some salsa, a squeeze of lime. Enjoy! Buen Provecho!

DOCENT SPOTLIGHT - MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO DOCENTS INVITE FR. JOE SCERBO TO SPEAK ABOUT HIS TELEVISION SERIES ON FR. SERRA IN OCTOBER

MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO DOCENT SOCIETY

The San Juan Capistrano Docent Society has invited Fr. Joseph Scerbo, S.A., Ph.D. and founder of the Junipero Serra Franciscan Center for Mercy and Reconciliation, to speak at their October meeting about his TV Project to develop a five-part television series to celebrate the life and work of Fr. Junipero Serra, born 300 years ago this year.

The Mission San Juan Capistrano Docent Society will conduct a training session for docents, starting Saturday, September 21. There will be three meetings in all, one on September 28 and the another one on October 5. Meetings will take place in Room C of the Pastoral Center.

---

Members of the San Juan Capistrano Docent Society have chartered a bus to travel to the Huntington Library on August 26 to view the "Junipero Serra and the Legacies of the California Missions" Exhibition.

---

If your docent group has developed an innovative program, produced a book, organized a lecture series, developed a training website, custom-tailored a special tour, or undertaken any activity that might serve as an example for other groups of mission docents, kindly relay your accomplishment to us in an email to docents@ca-missions.org. Please use "Docent Spotlight," followed by the name of your mission on the subject line.

Each of these communications will become the nucleus of a regular, monthly newsletter item under the "Docent Spotlight" heading.

Please let us know how and when you would like people to sign up to become docents.
Please send all of your Docent Spotlight ideas and information to docents@ca-missions.org

CONTINUING SERIES - NIGHT PHOTOGRAPHY OF ALTA CALIFORNIA MISSIONS

This month, CMSA, via the Correo, continues this series dedicated to fascinating night photography of the California Missions by Paul C. Richmond. For the next several months, the Correo will feature examples of these unique images.

In our July Correo, we introduce some of this year's night photographs that Richmond is currently taking, with logistical assistance from CMSA.

We hope that you will enjoy these nighttime images provided to us, courtesy of Paul C. Richmond.

Father Junípero's Confessor: A Novel

Nick Taylor

A novel of Mission-era piety and fanaticism

In September, Heyday Books of Berkeley is scheduled to release a publication of particular interest to devotees of mission studies: Father Junipero's Confessor: A Novel.

Nick Taylor, an assistant professor of English and comparative literature at San Jose State University, is the prize-winning author of The Disagreement. (Simon & Schuster, 2009)

Thank you to Julianne Burton-Carvajal for alerting readers to this new publication.

MULTIMEDIA CORNER - CRAIG ALAN HUBER, CMSA MEMBER, TO PRODUCE LIMITED EDITION OF PRINTS OF ALL 21 MISSIONS

To honor and help support the 21 Alta California Missions, Photographer Craig Alan Huber will be producing limited-edition hand-crafted portfolios of platinum/palladium prints. The images represented in the portfolios will be from his pilgrimages to all 21 Missions in Alta California, made between his home in Seattle and California over a six-year period.

After recently joining the CMSA at the Supporters Circle Level, Craig Alan Huber presented "An Artist's Journey Into Serra's Legacy" at the 2013 CMSA Conference in Santa Barbara.

As a result of a recent successful Kickstarter campaign, Craig Alan Huber will be donating a significant portion of the profits from these portfolios directly to the Missions needing it the most. Additionally, each Mission will be given use rights of his images for use in their promotional materials.

ALONG THE MISSION TRAIL - TOUR OF NORTHERN BAJA CALIFORNIA SUR

SAVE THE DATES FOR AN EXTRA SPECIAL TOUR OF MISSIONS, ART, ARCHITECTURE, & THE CULTURAL HERITAGE OF NORTHERN BAJA CALIFORNIA SUR - OCTOBER 31 THROUGH NOVEMBER 7, 2013

CAREM is pleased to announce plans for the upcoming tour of northern Baja California Sur! The trip is scheduled for eight days in late 2013. Our "home base" will be in the beautiful coastal community of Loreto, the birthplace of the California Mission Chain, with a four-day overnight excursion to communities a short distance to the north. The tour will include visits to four magnificent missions - Misión Nuestro Señor San Ignacio de Kadakaamán, Misión Santa Rosalía de Mulegé, Misión Nuestra Señora de Loreto de Conchó, and Misión San Francisco Javier de Viggé-Biaundó - led by the noted art and architectural historian, and specialist in mission history, Dr. Pamela J. Huckins.

Additionally, tour guests will have the opportunity to view indigenous rock art, explore the mining and ranching history of Baja California Sur, visit history and art museums, learn about native rancho culture, engage with artisans who are keeping alive traditional rancho crafts, savor delicious regional foods, and discover how northern Baja California Sur's historic architecture reflects the rich cultural heritage and social history of the region.

Please save the dates and plan to join us for a relaxing, fun, and educational tour! Specific Itinerary and information due by August 20.

ALONG THE MISSION TRAIL - MISSION SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO - SERRA CHAPEL - PRESERVATION EVENT - HELD

To honor the 300th anniversary of Fr. Serra's birth in a significant way, the staff of Mission San Juan Capistrano decided to hire Susan Brown Painting Conservators and the services of display Art Installation Service to uncover the hidden art behind a painting that had been in the Serra Chapel for 40 years: the large Station 12 of the Cross: the Crucifixion.

The current huge painting was mounted in 1973 and was thought to be a reproduction that sits on top of a 200 year-old art piece just like it.

The Docent Society and others viewed the Preservation in Action process, which started at 10 am in the morning.

Nails that were holding the 40-year old art work onto the older painting took over an hour to remove. Then at about 11:42 am, the newer painting was dismounted to unveil a beautiful, if darker version of the 1973 painting. It was dated 1800! The conservators indicated that it is in good shape, but requires cleaning and dusting. More importantly, the sagging canvas on the right lower side needs to be re-stretched across its support, according to the conservators.

Executive Director Mechelle Lawrence-Adams offered updates during the session and explained a lot about the preservation process.

According to Mechelle, an anonymous donor made a very generous contribution to cover the expenses for this Preservation Project.

From the time of early treaties, through western expansion, and into the romanticism of the 20th century, the United States' relations with Native Americans have been variously documented by artists, authors, and mapmakers. William R. Talbot offers a wonderful collection of historical artworks, maps, and books that explore the history and beauty of Indian cultures.

The current exhibition features early 19th century Americana by Karl Bodmer, George Catlin, and McKenney & Hall. Regionalist New Mexico artworks from the late 19th century and the 20th century Modernist era include paintings and prints by Emil Bistram, Gerald Cassidy, Peter Moran, Datus Myers, Ralph Pearson, Arnold Rönnebeck, and John French Sloan. Early maps of the Southwest, New Mexico, and Indian Territory are also exhibited in this well-rounded selection.

An exceptional exhibition of Southwest scenes from the early twentieth century, with fine art prints by important American Modernists, including Emil Bistram, Morris Blackburn, George Burr, Gerald Cassidy, Howard Cook, Gene Kloss, Arnold Rönnebeck, Will Shuster, John French Sloan, and Theo White.

Beginning in the late nineteenth century, East Coast artists began to travel to New Mexico, attracted by the clarity of the air, the charismatic light, and the vibrant colors of the landscape. Kindred spirits-artists, writers, and free thinkers-followed in their wake, eventually forming the Santa Fe and Taos art colonies in the early twentieth century. During this active and fertile time, avant-garde artists in New Mexico adapted Cubism and other current stylistic movements to express the exoticism of Southwestern landscapes and cultures. In turn, many forms of printmaking were embraced for their expressive potential.

"In the United States, during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, many artists were searching for a singularly American subject. . . The ever-encroaching industrial age, the growth of sprawling urban centers and the impact of soulless mechanization upon the human spirit were topics of concern in intellectual circles. . . The American Southwest became both an artist's destination and a refuge." (Stacia Lewandowski, Light, Landscape and the Creative Quest: Early Artists of Santa Fe)

FROM THE EDITOR/COMPILER OF CORREO - JUNE 30, 2013

Dear Correo Readers,

This is the last issue of the Correo for me as editor as my term has expired.

Since July 2011, it has been my great privilege to become better acquainted with CMSA through the monthly challenge of publishing the Correo.

I would like to thank you, the readers, for your enthusiasm and lively interest.

A big thank you also goes to everyone who contributed to the newsletter, either with story ideas and stories or with photos, announcements, and commentary.

Finally, a huge thank you is extended to CMSA President David Bolton for his dynamic input, especially of exciting ideas for a number of continuing series, and also for his delightful and fascinating stories on a variety of topics.

I wish you well. You are in the capable hands of a very talented new CMSA Board this July.

Best wishes,

Sue
